ENID PLEASED WITH COMMISSION FORM

Enid, Okla., March 9.—That the commission form of municipal government is superior in every viewpoint to the old councilmanic form of government and gives impetus to the advancement of growing towns in every state, is the general opinion in Enid. Sixteen months of operation of the new government here has failed to disclose a single thing detrimental to the interest of the city and the tax payers, or anything that has called for adverse criticism.

The prompt, economical manner in which the affairs of the city can be transacted under its provisions, and the elimination of politics are the features that have made it popular here.

When the charter was adopted the present mayor and commissioners inherited a debt of more than $100,000 from their predecessors. The debt is being gradually reduced and the city is now for the first time in ten years on a cash basis. This is largely due to the saving in the cost of running the affairs of the city as compared with the old form of government.

All current expenses of the city are paid the first of each month and this enable the city to have its work done more cheaply than if the bills had to be held up for any length of time. Prior to the adoption of the new charter bills were held up for several months at a time.

As a result of the saving the city taxes have been reduced three-quarters of a mill and the charter is not yet a year and a half old.

The form is especially popular with the working class of people and small property owners since it contains so many provisions favorable to them.

By eliminating anything from the charter that tends to keep down competition in public service corporations the general opinion in Enid is that the present government cannot be improved on. A new mayor and set of commissioners will be elected April 14.

KITCHEN AFTER A HORSE THIEF SUSPECT

For some time three men have been in the vicinity of Stonewall and their actions became so suspicious a few days ago that Deputy Sheriff John Kitchens got busy. The men were doing some little trading in horses and wishing to find out a few things about some of these, Kitchens and some others went after one of the bunch Wednesday night. When ordered to halt the fellow jumped from his horse and ran off, followed by several shots from the party. He and his companions have not been seen since although Kitchens made every effort to locate them. It is also said that one of them let fall a few remarks that indicated a knowledge of the last burglary at Ada.

MANDAMUS SUIT TO BE HEARD TONIGHT

The mandamus suit of the Greer Investment Co. of Oklahoma City in which it is sought to mandamus the city of Ada to turn over the Byrd's Mill issue of bonds to said company, was set for 1:30 this afternoon, but was finally postponed until the night session of the court.

7,337 Bales of Cotton Ginned.

Frederick, Ok., March 9.—When the Simmons gin closed down for the season, 7,337 bales of cotton had been ginned by the four gins here. The Foster-Harris gin closed early. The Williams & Miller gin and the J. D. Nicholson gin are still running, as there are still a few bales of cotton and some bolls remaining in the country.

Cotton in this vicinity has averaged about a third of a bale to the acre, while the bolls that have been picked later have averaged about 300 pounds to the acre. In some fields as high as 600 or 700 pounds of bolls have been picked to the acre.

BOND ELECTION DEFECTIVE AND THEREFORE VOID.

Sutherland & Company Renew Offer
For Issue When Legally
Made.

Byrd's Mill bond election illegal; another election called for March 24. That is the situation as it stands today.

This morning the council met at 9:30 and until after 12 o'clock wrestled with the problems presented. C. A. Loomis, attorney for Sutherland & Co., the second purchasers of the bonds, was present and presented a statement from Harry Weber, the noted bond attorney of Chicago, to whom the bonds had been referred, to the effect that several vital errors were made in the proceedings relating to the bond issue, and that these errors invalidated the election. He offered, however, that if the council would order another election and follow the procedure as prescribed by Weber that his company would take the bonds immediately without waiting for the approval of any bond attorney, and offered to be present on the day of the election and go at once to Guthrie with a representative of the city and secure the approval of the attorney general at once, and immediately thereafter to pay over the money. To avoid any delay he also agreed to have the bonds printed and ready to sign as soon as the election returns came in.

The discussion that followed took a wide range. Alderman Grigsby wanted to wait until the case pending in the district court should be disposed of. Hope and others contended that the situation was too urgent to admit of delay and favored accepting the offer then and there. After two hours of discussion the latter view prevailed and the ordinance passed at once. It was found that the date of the primary was one day too early to embrace the bond election also, so Friday, March 24th, was set as the time for holding the bond election.

The four principal defects pointed out by Mr. Weber were as follows: The ordinance submitting the question to the taxpaying voters of the city was not in compliance with the constitution. The election notice was invalid because it did not designate the hours during which the polls were to be open. The proposition as embraced in the proclamation was too indefinite. Nothing showed that the laws governing municipal elections had been complied with. City Attorney Webb contended that the supreme court in the Ardmore case had ruled that failure to specify the hours did not invalidate the election unless it could be shown that some voter had been deprived of an opportunity to vote, and that Weber himself had in a former bond issue by the city of Ada approved the proceedings in which the call to the taxpayers was identical with the one in the Byrd's Mill case. He admitted that the contention regarding the indefiniteness of the purpose of the issue was rather vague, and stated that it was put that way in the endeavor to get around the old law which forbade a city of the first class from going over five miles from the city limits for a water supply, but that under the new law distance would cut no figure.

Mr. Webb also contended that the council could not enter into an arrangement at this time that would tend to cut out competition in the bids.

Circuit Judge Cottrell awarding a judgment against him for $69,000 in favor of Cornelius S. Loder of New York city, the amount representing a former Illinois Steel Company claim against Haskell which Loder purchased. The appeal is taken on the ground that Loder's former judgment against Haskell, secured in New York, had become dormant under the laws of that state.

Judge Cottrell today set for March 27 in the United States circuit court at Oklahoma City the cases of Scott McReynolds of Brooklyn, N. Y., vs. Haskell and Judge John P. Bailey of Ottawa, Ohio, vs. Haskell. The former is suing Haskell for $10,000 for alleged false arrest when Mc-

Reynolds visited Oklahoma two years ago as the attorney detective for Wm. R. Hearst, and Bailey is suing for $9,000 attorney's fees alleged due him from Haskell.

A TRIBUTE TO LAW ENFORCE- MENT.

Occasionally a man receives a fine compliment from one who did not at all intend to pass one. A case in point occurred last evening, from which it appears that Chief Houn-
shell and his men have been doing
some pretty effective work.

As the editor of the News was coming to town after supper, he was overtaken by a fellow who was carrying about as big a load as he could well navigate with. Becoming confidential he told the editor of a sick friend who was in dire need of a bracing swig or two of nectar, and desired to be directed to a place where a man could get something in that line. "It's not like it used to be,"
he complained, "there was some nice places where a man could go when he wanted a drink, but now it's hard to find. I don't believe in shutting things so tight, do you? If I was on the council I would be in favor of letting one place run."

And then he went on his way
seeking for a place where he could get a bottle of spiritual comfort.

If the house passes the senate redistricting bill placing Congressmen
Carter and Davenport in the same congressional district, some interesting political history will be written next year. The very fact that two congressmen will be pitted against each other will cause other booms
to be started very soon, and Pontotoc county may be heard from at the proper time. John Crawford is being urged by numerous friends to make the race, and with the record
he has made in the present legislature, there can be no doubt about his being able to give a good account of himself in a scrap of that sort. He has shown marked ability as a political leader and could put up a scrap that his opponents would not relish a little bit.

Sherwood Hill says the News has it in for him. Yesterday he stated that he had received 20,000 strawberry plants, and somehow when it was set up for the paper the figures read just one-tenth of that number. Our information that Mrs. Carson's hotel at Allen was burned at Allen a few nights ago proves incorrect. It was a hotel building belonging to C. H. Nash that was burned. The building was valued at about $1,600.

Getting into the habit of reading ads, and of making purchases in the light of such reading on the information and on the impression so gained—is hard for some folks. But getting "out" of such a habit, once formed, would be unthinkable to them!

The ice men of Oklahoma seem to be up against it just now. This hot wave has created a big demand for ice and only one or two factories in the state are running. The others are undergoing repairs and although ordinarily in pretty cool business, are now in hot water.

Notice to Water Customers. The artesian well has not been sufficient to supply the demand for water. Owing to the constant calls for water we could not supply all. IF YOU HAD A FRIEND WORTH $3,000,000
AND YOU HAD TO HAVE ONLY $1,250 OR GO BANKRUPT

What would you do? If you knew of another man getting $143,000 from your Rich Friend, just for the asking, what would you do? If you had good reason to believe that your Rich Friend would let you have the $1250 and say to you, "If you need more, call on me,"—now, would you tell him your condition and ask him for the loan, or would you swell up and say, "I'll bust before I'll speak to him about it!"

In the series of Sunday evening talks on "REMARKABLE CONVERSIONS," by Rev. E. M. Sweet, Jr., pastor of the First Methodist church, next Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the preacher will tell the story of the conversion of Jerry McAuley, in the down-town district of New York, and of his wonderfully useful life in lifting up others like him.

Maybe there is not a man in Ada as bad as Jerry McAuley was. Maybe there is one who is worse. If so, the same Savior that saved Jerry McAuley can save him. And the same Savior can save every sinner who may not have sinned so much. The Millionaire who will loan $143,000 to a man in need, will certainly loan $1,250 to another man whom He believes in just as much.

MAN OF THE WORLD, why don't you go to church? Every church in Ada will welcome you on the Holy Sabbath Day. God gave you that Day to learn the way of Life. The House of Worship is the best place to rest. Get your mind out of the ruts and go where you will be made to think in a new channel—that is the best rest for a weary mind or body. And the good singing will cheer you.

Go to the Church of your choice. If you have no other preference, you are cordially invited to the First Methodist church. Services also at 11 A. M.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

Oklahoma City, Ok., March 9.—Gov. Cruce sent his second veto message to the legislature when he returned today without his approval the senate bill appropriating $100,000 for erection of a dormitory at the Girls' Industrial School at Chickasha.

Senator Barefoot author of the measure, tonight asked the senate to pass the bill notwithstanding the governor's disapproval, which it refused to do by a vote of 16 to 22, with six absent, the vote necessary for passage being thirty.

The Chickasha senator, after reciting a history of the bill, had read a number of telegrams from Southern educators approving the dormitory system and stated that the governor had failed to produce a reason for his veto. The time had come, he told the senate, for it to let the state know it (the senate) was capable of passing laws, and said that if the senate submitted to the message it would be equivalent to acknowledging that the legislature would carry off the state were it not for the governor.

Both houses remained in session until late last night, using the last available hour on local and appropriation bills which had to be in the other house today in order to be legally considered.

At a late hour this morning, the senate relented by reconsidering its vote killing the deficiency appropriation bill carrying a total of about $400,000 and then passed it.

An important measure finished by the senate is that declaring the Attorney general the legal adviser of state departments, and county attorneys legal representatives of the counties. Departments may not employ special attorneys as they have in the past unless specifically approved, if this bill becomes a law. Senator Thompson, the author, made it plain that this is the practice sought to be stopped.

Bills Passing Senate.

Other bills by the senate were: That providing that employees of corporations shall be paid seven days after being released or discharged; requiring that all state money shall be paid into the state treasury, and only paid out on warrants issued by the state auditor, and to be paid in the order of their registration by the Auditor; the Horton bill to prevent injunction suits against collection of taxes on technicalities; by Roddie defining courses of study at State educational institutions, and fixing the number of teachers that may be employed; requiring foreign building and loan companies to deposit a bond with the state before authorized to sell stocks; defining the official duties of the state printer, rejecting the bill by Roddie and Franklin which sought to abolish the office of state printer; house bill creating the department of state highways, in charge of a highway engineer and imposing a tax of one dollar per year upon automobiles for support of same; bills appropriating $250,000 for completing the state penitentiary at McAlester; $100,000 for new building at the Alva Normal; $15,000 to purchase additional land at the McAlester Penitentiary; providing for paying actual expenses of district judges when absent from their counties on official business.

House Bills Passed.

Among the measures passed by the House were: Bill appropriating $20,000 for expenses of the State Fire Marshal's department; $65,000 for completion of Science Hall at Wilburton; requiring that in place of issuing pamphlets, arguments on initiated or referred questions shall be printed in two newspapers of different political faith in each county; appropriating $35,000 for printing, indexing and annotating the Harris-Day code revision; $25,000 for barracks at the Chandler Rifle Range $5,000 for a statue of Sequoyah to go in Statuary Hall, Washington; Peebly's bill fixing method of establishing rural consolidated high schools; appropriating $144,000 for engineering building and chapel at A. & M. college; $135,000 for buildings at the Sulphur school for the Deaf; and the bill fixing the time for holding terms of the district court.

The only appropriation bill killed in the house was that giving $50,000 for a new heating and lighting plant at the Tonkawa university.

The motion by Mr. Rexroat and Mr. Champion proposing that the state board of affairs be authorized to locate the state school for the blind, which is now at Fort Gibson and the Cornell bill exempting debts from taxation were also voted down.
